

Ladybird and the spider. Flo Longthorn.

Story Line	Body Patting Actions
Once upon a time there was a tiny ladybird “Pat, pat pat.!”	Fingers pat up and down both arms.
Suddenly a large spider came spinning. “Spin, spin, spin. ! “	Fists thump up and down the arms.
And chased the tiny ladybird across the garden.	Pat, pat fingers up and down the arms.
Through a storm.!	Sweeping arm movements up and down.
The wind blew. “puff puff puff”	Pat cheeks and blow.

The rain fell. “Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle.

Pitter patter fingertips over head.

The ladybird ran up the hillside to hide in the flowers on one side

Pat fingers up the arms and strum
Fingers on one side of the head.

....and then the other.

Strum fingers on
The other side.

The spider followed
into the flowers.

Thump up the arms
And thump all over the hair.

When suddenly!

Stop and hold up arms and hands.

The tiny ladybird spread
Her wings and flew down

Flutter hands over the heart.

to find happiness in a warm heart. (suggested by TA Becs S5)
