

The Science bit

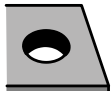

The Sweets react with the carbon in the fizzy drink

This releases gas and pressure builds up in the bottle

When the pressure is too much the gas spurts out of the hole in the bottle top

Make sure you take some photos